Former mascot at West Point enjoys southern style retirement

Editor's Note: The interview for this story was done in early June and the article written last week. However Buckshot died either Saturday night or Sunday morning. Dr. Strong reports her trotting up to the family on Saturday and eating normally. He found her dead Sunday and she was buried there in the pasture where she spent the last years of her life. The commander at West Point and other interested officials have received written notice of the death from Strong.

She lives in a splendor that is in sharp contrast to her public image. She eats a special diet of tasteful, turesque setting.

The setting includes a nice two story brick main house with a family dog and a new puppy, the accompanying out buildings and a fish pond with ducks swimming around. All this is plainly visible from the front of the house. Lush pastures with quality beef cattle grazing constitutions. Unladylike, but consistently, she turns her backside to anyone walking up to her. "She" is the mule Buckshot, the former mascot of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. Her military trainer says she never could be broken from the habit of spinning around and attempting to kick anyone approaching her. Elba Police Chief Jack Parker was addressing the city council Monday night when he popped the old joke about a deadlocked jury. When the jury foreman ordered supper for the dozen jurors, the list was for eleven hamburgers and one bale of hay. The chief was at the time explaining some problems which caused him to tender his resignation last Friday and he had indicated some interference in supervising the officers. This might have been a nice way of saying someone was being a jackass. We resisted the temptation to ask Jack just who the bale of hay was for ... surely he wasn't planning to feed the news media!

The City of Elba is experiencing cash flow problems. It would be nice to think it is only a cash flow problem, but the numbers coming out indicate it is a financial crisis. Right now all the accounting will be muddled by the 1994 flood, either actually or as a crutch. A few folks are concerned about the terrible picture being portrayed on the balance sheets, because frankly they don't have a simple solution. maybe our elected officials are equally concerned. Oh, there are some suggestions we have heard, but right now it is going to take more than a band aid to get Elba finances back in the black. The additional 1¢ sales tax will help the schools some, but only if they watch their expenses. The part going to the City will also help some, but even at the pre-flood rate of spending, it ain't enough.

Atmore's William Station Day to be held in October

The Atmore Area Chamber of Commerce is now accepting applications for Atmore's Williams Statio Day Arts and Crafts Show on October 22, 1994. This year's event will include a juried arts and crafts show and a non-juried crafts show. Both shows are held in conjunction with Williams Station Day, a railroad festival celebrating Atmore's history which dates back to 1866 when Atmore, then named Williams Station. was a supply stop along the Mobile and Great Northern Railroad. Because of the heritage theme of this event, traditional folk artists and craftsmen are encouraged to partici-pate. Special incentives are available for demonstrating craftsmen who qualify in this category. Climb aboard a giant locomotive ride the rails on a motor car or lister to the long ago chants of a railroad section crew. All this and more await you in Atmore on Saturday, October 22, at Williams Station Day.

The Pressbox By Ricky Mularz, Sports Editor

I guess it's fair that when a Daddy doubts that his child is really sick, he should get the same illness. Melanie had some stomach problems for over a week and many times I just got tired of her whining and told her to be quiet. She started getting better early this week after a trip to the doctor; however, by the time she began feeling better, it was my turn to have the same symptoms. She still wasn't at one-hundred percent, but she did her best to take care of Dad and not once told me to be quiet. For me it was a

The high school football season is only a month away and that means it's time to begin our annual peek ahead at the upcoming season and some of the changes that will take place in 1994. The biggest changes will come in area alignment, where many areas totally changed teams and locally some of the teams will compete against new opponents.

The biggest change at the local scene will be in Class 1A, Area 3, where Kinston, New Brockton and Zion Chapel will join McKenzie and Pleasant Home to form a new-look area. The Gamecocks dominated 2A athletic circles for a long time and I kept hearing how more and more students were moving into New Brockton. When the state counted the students; however. New Brockton was down to 135 in the top three grades and moved down to 1A. If New Brockton had two more students it would have remained a 2A club, and I for one believe that when the new classes come out two years from now the Gamecocks will be right back in the 2A

Zion Chapel has been growing slowly over the past couple of years as many people move into the country, and the Rebels are fast becoming one of the bigger 1A schools in the state. Zion Chapel's student population stood at 121.9 at the last count, which put ZC only fifteen students from moving up to 2A. If the flight to the country schools continues, Zion Chapel could be near the cutoff when the next population check is held. Kinston was listed with only one less student than Zion Chapel and the Bulldogs are also moving close to the line that separates 1A from 2A. Kinston's student population has remained constant for years and isn't expected to fluctuate; however, Kinston is one of the bigger 1A schools and is larger than 1A sports powers Courtland and Notasulga. Coffee County has three of the bigger schools in the 1A ranks and should be ready to begin to dominate sports in the state's smallest class. It will be interesting to see just how the change in areas and classes affects Verbena. the rivalries among the county schools, and their fans. What would happen if the three county schools consolidated? Well, if all the students remained in the county system the new school would have over 377 students and be a 5A school with a student population larger

LOOK AROUND STATE FINDS MANY NEW AREAS

A quick look around the state reveals a lot of new areas in all classes, and here is a look at all six classes and some of the more interesting

CLASS 1A - The area with Coffeeville, Johnson and Marengo has always been one of the toughest 1A areas in the state, and now that Sweet Water has moved down, the Area 2 will get even tougher. Another tough area will be up in Area 5, where 2A strongboy Autaugaville has moved down and no doubt dominate in a group that includes Marbury, Montgomery County, St. Jude and Verbena.

CLASS 2A - The biggest news in Class 2A is the addition of former 3A power Washington County to 2A, Area 1. The Bulldogs will join perennial power Leroy, as well as Linden, McIntosh and Millry to form quite an area. Defending 1A state champion Brantley also made the move to the 2A circles and the Bulldogs shouldn't miss a beat as they jump into Area

5 with Goshen, Highland Home and Clayton. CLASS 3A - Area 3 has become a three-team group with the exit of Geneva to the 4A ranks, and the trio of Houston County, Rehobeth and Slocomb should be a very competitive grouping. Ashville and Litchfield moved up in the North and won't be teams Elba will face until a final round, and Area 5 will have all new faces in weak sisters Calhoun, Catholic, Keith and St. James.

CLASS 4A - Geneva moved back to the 4A ranks and moved into Area 3 along with Daleville, Pike County and Bullock County. The Panthers will have to be greatly improved to even have a chance at making the playoffs in any sport. The only other addition of note came up in Area 14, where Joey Jones' Dora team moved down after a couple of successful seasons in 5A. Dora could be a team to watch in 4A in '94. CLASS 5A - Opp made the move back into 5A and rejoined rivals such as Andalusia, Greenville, Charles Henderson and Hillcrest in Area 4, while Russell County moved down from the 6A ranks and into Area 5 along with Eufaula, Smiths Station and Valley. This made Area 5 one of the best in the state in the 5A ranks. CLASS 6A - The big news in the ranks of the "big boys" came in Montgomery, where Lanier, Lee, Prattville and B.T. Washington all moved from Area 7 into Area 6 and are now opposite other Montgomery foes Carver, Jeff Davis and Selma when it gets to playoff time.

discussed The rain actually started back around the first of June. However, the heavy rains the week of the 4th of July really did some damage to our crops in Coffee County. One farmer told me he recorded as much as 16 inches of rain in one 24-hour period of time. Each farm and each field had different types of damage. However, across the whole county there is an estimated 30% loss to our crops, and if the rains continue that may be much worse. Every field has been hurt. Some fields were totally lost due to the flooding along river banks. Some outs and gullies. This loss is estimated to be about 10 percent of our crop are simply saturated and water-logged. This causes a tremendous amount of stress to a plant whether it be cotton or peanuts. All of our fields are way behind on their spraying programs for weeds, insects and diseases. Even the farmers who have not suffered direct crop loss by the floods will acreage. Many other fields, however, suffer a yield loss either by disease (particularly leafspot in peanuts), insects in cotton, or excessive weeds in either of these crops. Coffee County had one of the finest corn crops it has had in years. All of this rain can cause some severe corn losses. If your corn fields were healthy before the rains came, when it dries out again they will be fine. However, any corn that had stinkbug damage before the rain will rot very easily. Some of the corn has been The estimated 30% crop loss may not seem like much. However, I don't know of any farmer who had a 30% profit margin. This is not good for our farmers when many of them operate on a barely break-even proposition. The profits in farming now are so low that a farmer really does not make enough in a good year to cover his losses in a bad year.

loss needs to go by the ASCS office in their county and certify any losses. This program is the Emergency Conservation Program which is a 64%/36% cost share program. This will not cover the rebuilding of roads or gullies. This money is for ponds, terraces, and any damage to farm land. Also, the crop certification deadline for your spring and summer planted crops has been extended at the ASCS office until July 29 for the

McCammon seeking District Judgeship

Lloyd McCammon, an Enterprise attorney, announces his candidacy as a Republican for the Office of District Judge for Coffee County in the General Election this November. The 48-year old McCammon, a veteran of two tours of combat in Vietnam as a helicopter pilot, is a retired lieutenant colonel with 23 years of service as an enlisted soldier, warrant officer, and combat arms officer in the U.S. Army. He came to the Wiregrass over 27 years ago and has called Enterprise home for the last 19 years.

McCammon says that the central thrust of his campaign is to offer the voters of Coffee County a distinctively recognizable candidate for judicial office. He says that it is his sensing that in page elections were sensing that in past elections many LLOYD MCCAMMON off the streets; and victims of crime voters have perceived attorneycandidates for the bench as being of lent majority" subscribes.
